

Information for students interested in writing their Bachelor's or Master's Theses at the Chair of Operations Research

We welcome applications for Bachelor's and Master's theses at the Chair of Operations Research. Please be sure to follow the instructions given below.

Topics are related to the research interests of our group and typically involve a strong mathematical component. Depending on the subject, collaboration with industry partners may be possible. Applicants are welcome to approach us with their own suggestions for topics or collaborations.

Requirements

We are looking for applications by Bachelor or Master students with strong background in mathematics or operations research. Prospective Master students are supposed to have participated in a relevant seminar before starting their thesis.

Please make sure that your application includes the following material:

- Current CV
- Preferred starting time
- Description of the topic (optional)
- For Bachelor students: your (preliminary) extended Bachelor transcript
- For Master students: your extended Bachelor transcript AND your (preliminary) extended Master transcript
- Application form (for Master students only, see page 2)

If you don't have a topic in mind yet, please send us a short description of your interests.

Please note: Since we have a high load of ongoing theses, we will favor students who have already conducted their project study/seminar at our chair. You may only apply to one group of the OSCM department (see list below) at a time. In case of a topical mismatch or lack of capacity, you may hand in your revised application to another group.
